1. A Rumanian resistance organization in Bucharest is reported to have 10,000 men, of whom 3,000 are fully armed. An unknown quantity of machine guns and ammunition is available in the capital. (The above estimate may be optimistic.)
  2. Representatives of the Social Democratic coal miners of the Petro-seni region have approached leaders of the Bucharest resistance group concerning the organization of a cell among the miners.
  3. Resistance groups are also reported to have been organized in September in the Constanza area and in Brasov, and plans had been made at that time to create a similar organization in Craiova. However, these groups lack weapons and ammunition and their seriousness and importance is not yet established.
